Postwatch

Proposed modification of TNT's interim licence.

As you know Postwatch did not object removing mailroom services from licensing when Postcomm consulted on its 'approach to exemptions from the need for a licence under the Postal Services Act 2000' during last summer.

We understand that TNT currently only engages in mailroom services and therefore support the proposal to remove the limit on the number of items it may carry under its licence.

Yours sincerely,

National Consumer Federation

Proposed modification to an Interim licence for TNT UK

I reply to your letter of 28th January concerning the above on behalf of the National Consumer Federation.

The NCF is a representative body for Consumer Groups and also has as members individuals and organisations who wish to be associated with the aims and objects of the Federation to promote the best interests of consumers.

We have seen your reasons for proposing to remove the limit on the number of items of the permitted types which TNT UK may carry under its licence. We find the reasons obvious and sensible and do not wish to make any representations.

Yours sincerely,
J.F.Brown for NCF

Newry & Mourne District Council

Subject: Proposed Modification to an interim licence

On behalf of Newry & Mourne District Council, I would like to thank you for the opportunity to comment on the proposed modification of an interim licence which was issued to TNT UK.

At this time we have no comments to make.

Regards
Suzanne Rice

Intellect

Consultation on proposed changes to TNT's interim licence for mailroom services

This is just to let you know that Intellect has no objections to the proposed changes to TNT's interim licence for mailroom services.
